AUTHOR'S PREFACE

John Cooke's "The Preacher's Assistant" is of peculiar interest for several reasons:

(1) Pulpit literature was of seminal importance for the literature and thought (including scientific thought) of the times, and played a major role in politics throughout the period.

(2) Cooke's catalogue of this literature is remarkably complete, and each record is densely packed with informative data.

(3) The tradition in which Cooke's work lies formed the backbone out of which great research libraries have grown and from which union catalogues stem.

By translating the data from Cooke's two volumes into six volumes, the data are laid out in ways that make them accessible for purposes that Cooke did not have in view. His catalogue of sermons is herein transformed from a Preacher's Assistant to an Historian's Assistant. These volumes are for those who wish to search out the vital relations between religion and literature, philosophy, science, and politics in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries or, more generally, are making bibliographical, philological, and economic studies concerning the period.

The usefulness of the sermon catalogue in historical studies is enhanced by the fact that the data within the catalogue come close to being exhaustive in regard to certain aspects of the period; in the form presented within the present edition, novel statistical studies of the data are quite possible. Transformation of Cooke's "The Preacher's Assistant" into a source-work for historical studies should not, of course, diminish its usefulness for students of theology.

The tradition within which Cooke's work has a place is outlined on the title page of the present volume. Study of relations between his work and antecedent works in the tradition is fascinating, and a curious reader may wish to pursue further historical details. The relevant names listed are those of Thomas James, William Crowe, and Sampson Letsome.

The compilation and analysis of indexes to Cooke's work relied heavily on the use of modern computers. From my experience, however, I judge that a computer, used for scholarly purposes, saves time for no one! It does make possible things which have never before been possible, and which may contribute to the Humanities, but its product does not satisfy the soul.

I wish to express my thanks to the Canada Council for its grants-in-aid of this work in its early states, and the Committee on Research at the University of British Columbia for grants in the early and middle states of my work. Much thanks goes to student research assistants who interpreted with great skill the directions I gave them, and who implemented them excellently in computer programming and in other ways. My appreciation goes to the University of British Columbia Computing Center for much, much computer time, and to its staff for their frequent help. Particularly, I want to thank three past directors: Vern Dettwiler, James Kennedy and A. G. Fowler, and a member of the staff, Frank Flynn.

The great libraries which have given me cooperation, access and valued assistance include the Huntington Library, the William Andrews Clark Library, the British Museum Library (now the British Library), the Dr. Williams's Library and the New College Library (now the Divinity School Library of the University of London). My special thanks go to my family for their patience and appreciation of my responsibilities during the years I was deeply involved in this major undertaking.

PUBLISHER'S PREFACE

In the late 1960s, Jeffrey Norton, then president of CCM Information Systems, a division of MacMillan Publishing, met Dr. John Gordon Spaulding for the first time and was informed about his attempt to computerize John Cooke's 18th-Century work, "The Preacher's Assistant." Norton was an innovator and leader in the burgeoning field of database publishing, which was then in relative infancy. He was, in fact, one of the founders of the Information Industry Association (IIA) and its first president. Norton immediately felt that Spaulding's work needed and deserved to be published and he offered him a contract, but Spaulding wasn't quite finished with his work. In fact, he was never quite ready to say he was finished because he always felt that the work was less than perfect, and he maintained this attitude until his death in 1993.

In 1971 Norton was invited to join Holt, Rinehart & Winston, where I was his "right hand." We offered Spaulding a contract with Holt, but he deferred. In 1972 Norton left Holt to form Jeffrey Norton Publishers and a third offer was sent. In 1973 I formed Clearwater Publishing, which, in 1987, became Norman Ross Publishing (NRP). In these years Norton made several invitations to Spaulding to publish the work, but as the direction of Norton's activities turned more toward audio and video, he suggested that I might want to pursue the matter. We offered Spaulding a Clearwater contract and then an NRP contract.

In a sense, Spaulding never did finish what was essentially his life's work. Although we met several times over a period of 20 years, he didn't feel it was morally correct to sign a contract until he was completely satisfied with his work. The last time I met him was just after his brother's funeral in Washington, D.C. The last time I spoke with him was shortly before his own. He no longer could climb steps, but he seemed still to be working on this project. And he still wasn't ready to sign the contract. However, he introduced me to his daughter, Amy Spaulding, whom he named his literary executor. He left instructions with her, and with Alan James (a family friend and computer expert who had helped him considerably in the last several years of the project, and who "finished" it after his death), to sign the contract if he did not live to complete the work himself.

Cooke was clearly a seminal work in historical and theological scholarship, worthy of devoting a life to increasing its usefulness. Spaulding tried not only to expand Cooke's data, but also to dot every "i" and cross every "t" that Cooke left undone. He analyzed not only Cooke's methodology, but also the practices of his typesetters and proofreaders, although some of Spaulding's description of these details have been omitted from the present edition. Now it remains for future scholars to utilize and judge Spaulding's work.

We believe that Spaulding has indeed changed Cooke's work into "The Historian's Assistant" and that his perseverance--and ours--will be justified. Our thanks to Jeffrey Norton for his vision and foresight when he met Spaulding a quarter of a century ago; to the Spaulding children, Amy and Stephen, for entrusting us with their father's lifetime work; to Alan James for answering our every question, though he came into this story late in the day; and to my father, Robert E. Ross, who edited all of the prefatory materials and prepared the six volumes for publication. We also wish to express our appreciation to The British Library for granting permission to publish Mr. Cooke's work from the microfilm Prof. Spaulding had made there in 1963 (the present Volume II).

Certainly it is sad that neither Gordon nor his wife Hildegarde lived to see the printed edition. We thank him for his dedication and devotion to this worthy purpose.

A BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE ON JOHN GORDON SPAULDING

J. Gordon Spaulding was born in Springfield, Illinois, in 1908 to a family with New England Puritan roots. My father was an earnest child, often chided by his easygoing father for being too serious. When the family moved to Pasadena, California, he became involved with the Pasadena Playhouse, where he fell in love with literature in the form of drama, and where he played Malvolio in Twelfth Night, having learned to balance his seriousness with a sense of humor.

Gordon's scholarly bent was recognized by prosperous family friends, who helped pay for his education at Pomona College in Claremont, California. He reveled in the philosophical and literary debate he encountered in college, and he continued in the academic world, earning his doctorate in 1945 from the University of California at Berkeley with his dissertation, "The Problems of Poetic Truth: Poetry and the Myth of the Greek Philosophers." In 1946 he accepted a position at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver, Canada, where he remained for the rest of his professional life, retiring as Professor Emeritus in 1973.

His wife provided a psychiatrist's broad outlook on culture and religion, and brought him to see how traditional rituals, while they may seem intellectually empty to some, can provide assurance to those who wish to counteract a seemingly careless, imprecise world. He conveyed to his children a profound respect for people who try to lead a Christian life without self-righteousness, and in later life he even came to rejoin the church.

Gordon devoted much time to the study of Milton and the Romantic Poets, particularly their intellectual debt to the religious ferment of their time. While on sabbatical he discovered in the British Museum a compilation of all of the sermons that had been printed in England between 1660 and 1782. The two volumes --Cooke's "The Preacher's Assistant"--provided a catalog of the changing religious concerns and interpretations of timeless Judeo-Christian themes, and a record of influences on contemporary thought in literature and philosophy. He devoted the last quarter century of his life to making the information in these rare volumes more accessible to other scholars.

The subject of access to information had always engaged his interest, as evidenced by an international symposium on "Man's Right to Knowledge" that he helped organize at Columbia University as part of its 1954 bicentennial celebration. In the 1960s he chaired a committee of the American Documentation Association (soon to become the American Society for Information Science) to help open to many the intellectual material previously available to only a few. He foresaw the promise that new techniques in information processing held for the Humanities and he believed the material in Cooke would provide an excellent prototype.

My father set rigid and extremely high standards for himself, and felt it important to assess every discrepancy in the original entries before "Pulpit Publications" could be published. He died in 1993, still engaged in this aspect of the project. With the help of a longstanding family friend, Alan James, Norman Ross Publishing is issuing this work--perhaps in a form less than its Platonic ideal--but confident of its utility to other scholars in many fields.

METHODOLOGY

Dr. John Gordon Spaulding began this work in 1961 after a visit to the British Museum Library where he rediscovered a 1783 copy of "The Preacher's Assistant" by John Cooke. Seeing the possibility of gaining new information about the history of that period, Dr. Spaulding correlated the 25,000 entries in Cooke's Volume I with the 9,000 entries in Volume II, using computer technology. By 1966 he had both volumes encoded and began the laborious process of matching the two sets of records. He found many discrepancies between the two and, using constantly upgraded computer systems, proceeded to match as many records as possible.

To determine the completeness of Cooke's coverage of sermons, Spaulding made comparisons between Cooke's listings and those of other sermon literature now held by four research libraries, selected because those four have large holdings of the literature in editions of that period. The four libraries were the Huntington and the William Andrews Clark libraries in southern California, and the Dr. Williams's and New College libraries in London, England.

For comparisons of completeness, twelve sample years were chosen, a decade apart throughout the period, representing 120 years. All sermons published in those sample years that were held by one or more of those libraries were compared with Cooke's listings in regard to the details by which Cooke had identified sermons. The comparisons involved a total of 857 different sermons preached by a total of 283 authors. These were contained in 357 different publications, of which 324 were single-sermon (s.s.) editions, and 30 were collective (coll.) editions. The use of Dr. Williams's Library for comparison purposes is not a duplication of the work Cooke had done there; that library has since greatly enlarged its holdings of 17th- and 18th-century imprints, so Dr. Spaulding's investigations there resulted in meaningful figures.

In a few issues of periodicals of Cooke's period, comparisons were made between Cooke's listings and those of then newly published works under the heading, "Divinity," and these figures support those in the library listings.

The contributions which the present edition makes to the tradition of Cooke's listings were made possible by the invention of computers. In addition to the now obvious methods of exhaustive indexing and statistical analyses, the computer used for this edition in production of editorial apparatus may be of special interest to librarians and other bibliographers, for it may prove innovative. The methods are described in Dr. Spaulding's paper, "The Sameness of Meaning and Where and How to Find it in Some Data," delivered at a conference in May 1976 at Laval University, Quebec, Canada, a copy of which was deposited at the Huntington Library.

This computer theory led to a program to compare all records in Cooke's Volume I with all records in his Volume II to determine which should and did refer to the same thing, and which did not and/or should not do so. Where differences were found, the program composed other records containing all non-redundant data from both sources. The first step produced the information conveyed by the symbols in the column headed "Sources Compared" in Volumes III, IV and VI. The last step produced Volume V.

Enlarged photocopies of Cooke's two volumes were made from different copies of the original edition, one in the British Museum Library and the other in the Yale University Library. Two operators, working independently, transcribed this data into machine-readable form, and a computer was programmed to show where a difference occurred between the two transcripts. Each difference was examined by a graduate student and, where an error was found, it was corrected. The data now represents Cooke's volumes correctly.

The author, of course, intervened between the computer and the source data at several points: in defining fields of information and in decisions regarding errors of transcription. He also examined all dubious matchings of records between Cooke's two volumes, and decided which should be allowed. Where the author's reasons are not obvious, they are indicated in footnotes of Volume V.

Concerning historical matters, some possible uses of statistical analysis of an index may be found in Volume I, illustrated in the Appendix to Index C to Volume III. For special examples, see those concerning sermons preached before a king, before a queen, or before king and queen, preached at a hospital or infirmary, or before governors thereof. Other illustrations may be found in the Appendix to Index D.

Concerning the great amount of time and effort Dr. Spaulding expended in this project, and his extreme care in establishing accuracy, it is hoped and expected that many academic specialists will find his innovative work of genuine value.

Locating the Texts of the Sermons

Although this present bibliographic edition does not contain the sermons themselves, it can be used to identify, through the British Library catalogue, the copies that the Library holds of those listed by Cooke. Although Cooke does not always give titles, and the British Library catalogue does not always give the texts, there is sufficient information to guide a reader to the correct publication, using author's name, format of publication, etc. To establish this as a viable method, Dr. Spaulding traced back a sample of 120 entries from Cooke.

Using entries in his Volume V, Spaulding referred to Donald Wing's "Short-title catalog of books printed in England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales and British America, and of English books printed in other countries, 1641-1700," which is, in effect, the union catalogue of British and American library holdings of such publications. From the listings which Wing indicated could be found at the British Museum, Spaulding then examined the British Museum catalogue, which then led to the book itself. For items not in the British Museum (now the British Library), he proceeded similarly at the Bodleian and Cambridge University libraries.

Dr. Spaulding's results indicated that at least four out of five of the entries he searched for in the years 1660, 1661, 1680, and hence, presumably for 1660-1700, can be identified; the relevant books can be located by proceeding through Wing to other catalogues. To determine if this ratio of success applies to the years 1701-1782, where Wing is not pertinent, Spaulding traced twelve entries from his Volume V, which occupied one hour of intensive investigation. He found that he could, with certainty, specify the shelf-mark (call number) for eight of the twelve works he traced during the hour. Two of the twelve were not to be found anywhere; for another, he found a probable shelf-mark; and he determined that the twelfth was not in the British Museum.

This method is a simple modification of typical methods of proceeding from a bibliography through a library catalog to the book on the shelf. However, if the proper entry does not easily spring into view, the researcher must give attention to the book format and date of publication. Under the name of the author, or likely variants, he scans the catalogue entries for a publication of the format and date given by Cooke. For these entries he consider the brief titles given by Wing, or the abbreviated titles given by the British Museum catalogue, in relation to Cooke's listings regarding occasion, audience and subject matter. If Cooke's data are insufficient, he then considers the titles in relation to the biblical text of the sermon, although this would not be necessary in most instances.

One of the values of Cooke's works is that he is not redundant among bibliographers; he gives information which no other bibliographer does. He gives biblical text; he shows that a publication was a sermon; and he often indicates the subject mater of the sermon better than does Wing. It must be clarified that this present six-volume work stands on its own merits as an immediate source of information, absent the need for consulting original sermon texts.

GUIDE TO THE SIX VOLUMES

The "Pulpit Publications," based on John Cooke's listings of sermons published during the years 1660 through 1782, will serve as a key to social, economic, political and historical circumstances at that time in the British Isles. Sermons of that era were replete with statements concerning prevailing conditions, and can now serve researchers who are investigating vital relations between religion and the fields of literature, philosophy, science, philology, etc., and especially the field of historical theology.

John Cooke's work, published in 1783 by Clarendon Press, consists of two volumes. The first, consisting of 487 numbered pages, contains a listing of preachers, categorized by Book, Chapter and Verse of the Old and New Testaments. Volume II, with 425 pages, contains a brief identification of each preacher, a title for each sermon he delivered (with its biblical reference), and the library where a copy of the printed sermon reposed during that period. Cooke's work was titled, "The Preacher's Assistant," and was intended as a theological source and a guide for preachers who followed.

Volume II contains self-explanatory listings and is now published as Volume II of this six-volume set. On the other hand, Cooke's Volume I contains a wealth of reference data, primarily in obscure alphabetical and numerical abbreviations and codes. This material in Cooke's Volume I, compared with and combined with the voluminous data in Volume II, has been expatiated and clarified in the other five volumes of the present publication by Dr. John Gordon Spaulding. Therefore, the original version of Volume I has not been reprinted.

Cooke did not attempt to list every edition in which a specific sermon was printed, but in relation to the total number of sermons delivered and published in England during that period of 122 years, his listing is nearly complete. His listings included 92% of all sermons given in England, and many from Ireland and Scotland, as well as some from the colonies. Of those sermons given in England, his listings include 99% of those by Anglican preachers; about 82% of those by Nonconformist preachers; and about 10% of the Roman Catholic sermons during the reign of James II (1685-1688). Cooke's coverage of Quaker sermons, in relation to their total number, is difficult to estimate as they were seldom printed. His listing of those in Ireland appears to be quite comprehensive, while the list from Scotland is less so. However, for the latter two countries it is not possible to assign percentages.

John Cooke's remarkable book was based on previous publications of this nature by other authors and on intensive work he did himself in university and private libraries of his time. He had been Chaplain of Christ-Church, Oxford, and in his elevated standing had access to, and comprehensively recorded, the broadest existing sources of published sermons at various locations, including:

Oxford University, 21 libraries
Cambridge University, 10 libraries
Libraries of the British Museum, Doctor Williams, Eton College, Sion College, St. Paul's Church.

Cooke's data are now available in this new edition for the benefit of present and future generations.

VOLUME I: The index. This volume serves as the index to Volumes III and V, with seven indexes to Volume III, and five indexes to Volume V. Each of the seven indexes leads to a single series of code numbers in Volume III, arranged in numerical order. The five indexes for Volume V provide varieties of access to the straight chronological listing in that book of sermons by date of publication and by alphabetical listing of authors within each year.

VOLUME II: The Life and Work of John Cooke. This is a reprint of Volume II of John Cooke's "The Preacher's Assistant" (1783), which contains an alphabetical listing by author, together with the listing of sermons given by each, and data concerning subject and location. (Cooke's Volume I is not being reprinted because all of the data in it have been thoroughly cross-indexed and cross-referenced in the five volumes of Spaulding's work.)

VOLUME III: Sermons arranged in sequence by biblical book, with the codes from the indexes in Volume I provided in straight numerical order throughout. This listing details the following: Chapter and Verse; Author; Date; Format of Publication; Subject or Occasion; Comparison of Source Records.

VOLUME IV: Alphabetical listing of authors, with data in columnar form paralleling that in Volume III.

VOLUME V: Year of publication of printed sermons, listed chronologically, with the specific year shown at the head of each page. For each such year the authors are listed alphabetically, with subsequent years in which that author is also listed. Original library location is also shown.

VOLUME VI: Chronological listing, with an individual line item for each sermon by each author.

ARBITRARY SYMBOLS USED IN VOLUMES III AND/OR IV AND VI

SYMBOLS THAT OCCUR IN, OR THAT REPRESENT SYMBOLS THAT OCCUR IN, THE FIRST VOLUME OF COOKE'S OWN WORK

*Author's Name: A single asterisk before an author's name is Cooke's symbol that the record in which it occurs did not appear within the set of records that was compiled and published thirty years earlier, in 1753, by Sampson Letsome, who gave his antecedent work the same title as John Cooke adopted in 1783 for his later work: The Preacher's Assistant.

Author's Name: Underscoring of an author's name represents the italic lettering which Cooke used to indicate that the author was a Nonconformist: i.e., a Dissenter from the Church of England.

<Author's Name>: Pointed brackets around an author's name represent square brackets which Cooke used in the same positions to indicate that he might be wrong about authorship.

Abbreviations: All abbreviations are copied from the source records. Cooke's "List of Abbreviations" is reproduced in the present volume on the pages indicated by the "Table of Contents". Aids to interpretation of Cooke's abbreviations will be found after the list.

SYMBOLS THAT DO NOT REPLICATE OR REPRESENT ANY OF COOKE'S ARBITRARY SYMBOLS

 Footnote Double asterisks occur before some footnotes. They indicate that the footnote is the present editor's. All footnotes that do not begin with double asterisks are Cooke's own.

Coded Text: The eight digits enclosed within pointed brackets in the column headed Coded Text within Volume III of the present edition designate the biblical text of the sermon, as follows: The first two digits designate a book within the Bible; the succeeding three digits, a chapter within that biblical book; and the final three digits, the verse at which the text begins within that chapter. An example follows:

<06005010> This code specifies (by its first two digits, 06) the sixth book of the Bible (which for Cooke's listings of sermons includes some of the Apocrypha), the fifth chapter of that book (by the succeeding three digits, 005), and the tenth verse of that chapter (by the final three digits, 010). Thus it designates any biblical text that begins with the verse 10 in Chapter V of the book of Joshua within the Bible.

The Index Volume of the present edition uses these code numbers to specify the biblical texts of the sermons to which the index refers. The last six digits within a coded text are easily interpreted by a reader: three for chapter, three for beginning verse. The first two digits, not so immmediately interpretable, are listed, each with the name of the biblical book to which it refers, within the front cover of each volume of the present edition.

SYMBOLS USED IN THE COLUMN "Sources Compared" WITHIN THIS VOLUME

Superscript numbers on this page and the next refer to Notes. These begin at the bottom of the next page, immediately below the list entitled Source Symbols.

The Notes define what is meant by the statement that two sources of a record agree or disagree about author's Name, biblical Text, printing Format, or publication Date. Note 13 states Causes of disagreement.

The Notes also explain how the symbols of comparison may assist readers in cross reference[1] from this volume to Volumes II and V in the present edition of Cooke's work. Volumes II and V are useful for readers who wish to proceed from listings in this work to cognate listings in library and other catalogues.

Wherever Sources Compared shows two sources of information concerning ■ sermon, information from both sources will be found within a composite record in Volume V, sometimes with an accompanying footnote by the present editor. Within the composite record readers will often find that Cooke's abbreviations which appear under Occasion or Subject in the present volume are expanded and clarified.

Following the Notes is a two-page description of the evolution of Volumes III, IV, V, and VI of this edition from comparison of source records. Users will understand the symbols better if they read it first.

<1LS A record in Letsome's Part One: i.e.,Part One of the edition of The Preacher's Assistant that was printed in 1753 for its editor, Sampson Letsome, Cooke's predecessor by thirty years.

(In initial preparation of copy for the present edition of Cooke's work, Letsome's Part One was used to fill, so far as it would serve to do so, a gap in Cooke's records of sermons on Ecclesiastes vii, verses 2 to 14, that were published in collective editions. [See page 125 in our Volume III.] Records of sermons published in single-sermon editions on these texts are supplied by Cooke's second volume. A similar gap in regard to sermons on texts in II Kings between chapter iv verse 1, author TRIMNEL, and chapter v verse 18 is filled from the same source by a list in the Appendix to our Volume III. Evidently Cooke or his printer lost two separate manuscript pages of Cooke's copy for his first volume. Each manuscript page probably held twenty-five records or a few more.)

Notes

1. Cross-reference to Vols. II and V. To identify a publication specified by date and format in the column headed Edition within the present volume, consult Volume II. This replicates a copy of Volume II of Cooke's work in its original 1783 edition. In it authors are listed with their titles, degrees, and clerical appointments so far as Cooke was able to learn these matters. Below each author's name therein, relevant publications that are specified in the present volume by date and format are listed in chronological order, often with further information about them. The arrangement of authors' names in Volume II is alphabetical in the eighteenth-century fashion: J's and I's are intermingled, and so are U's and V's. In Volume V of the present edition all publications that are listed in Volume II are relisted in chronological order, with editorial apparatus appended to each listing. For more information about cross-reference to Volume V, see Note 10.

Notes (continued)

2. Editor's judgment: The present editor's judgment about whether or not two source records concern the same sermon is based upon his estimate of the probabilities, and this estimate is based on his experience with Cooke's data. Some of his judgments may be wrong. The present edition lays his evidence open to examination by the reader.

3. Same sermon: The term "same sermon" is used loosely. A printed sermon may differ substantially from the "same" sermon as spoken. One copy of a sermon may differ in significant detail (because of damage to a title-page, a type-face, a signature, or an assembly of signatures in binding) from another copy of the same edition or issue. One edition of a sermon may differ from another in substance.

4. - = agree. A hyphen "-" indicates agreement between primary and secondary sources as follows:

   - biblical text of a sermon if one source shows the biblical passage chosen for text as beginning with the same verse of the same chapter of the same biblical book as the other does;

   - name of author if source data concerning name fulfill three conditions simultaneously:
   (a) identical indications of conformity or nonconformity to Church of England [italic or underscored letters in name indicate nonconformity],
   (b) identical spelling of surname,
   (c) identical spelling of first name[s] or standard abbreviation or initial in one record of first name more fully represented in the other,

   (N.B. If author's first name[s] or initial[s] is preceded by "Bp." or "Abp." in one record and not in the other, the records are not judged to be in agreement in regard to author's name because agreement about first name has not been checked by computer. Hence in such cases "N" appears in the place of "-" in respect to name under Sources Compared even though disagreement has not been found and is highly unlikely),

   - format of printing if both source records indicate same format;

   - date of edition if both source records indicate same year.

5. T = disagreement about biblical Text. In our Vol. V the differing textual citations are both shown within one record. If the difference is greater than a single verse in regard to where the text begins, the sermon is listed for both texts in our Vol. III Sermons Listed by Biblical Text. The secondary listing there bears the parenthesis "<See Fifth Vol. of Present Biblio.>".

6. N = disagreement about author's Name or about his conformity or nonconformity to Church of England. In our Vol. V the discrepant information that the two sources offer regarding these matters is presented within a single record. If the discrepancy is substantial, the sermon is listed for both names (or spellings of the same name) in our Vol. IV Sermons Listed by Authors' Names. (The secondary listing there contains the parenthesis "<See Fifth Vol. of Present Biblio.>".)

   All disagreements, or uncertainties about agreement, that produce the letter "N" in place of a hyphen "-" under Sources Compared are treated as substantial and hence result in secondary records as well as primary within Vol. IV except as follows:

   (a) Church of England: Disagreement in regard to whether an author is a Nonconformist, as indicated by underscoring (italicization) of his name, is not treated as substantial.

   (b) Surname: Disagreement about whether or not the final letter of an author's surname should be doubled (e.g., Burnett vs. Burnet) is not treated as substantial.

(c) Given name: Uncertain agreement about given name of Bp. or Abp. (as described in the parenthetic N.B. that closes discussion of name of author in note 3, above) is not disagreement of any kind, substantial or otherwise. It is merely uncertainty.

7. F = disagreement about Format of printing. In our Vol. V the differing statements of format are shown within a single record.

8. D = disagreement about date of publication. In our Vol. V the differing dates are shown within a single record. To find it, use either of the two methods of cross-reference -- Direc. or Indirect -- that are described in Note 10.

9. I = disagreement about date of publication of a sermon that was printed as an Item within a collective edition. To find a composite record that shows the differing dates, use the method of Indirect cross-reference that is described in the first paragraph within Note 10, below.

10. To find a composite record in Vol. V: If Sources Compared shows the two sources of information in agreement about date, the composite record will be found in Vol. V under the same date as is shown in the present volume, which gives the 1C date. But if disagreement about date is indicated, the composite record will be found in Vol. V under the 2C date. To learn that date, a reader should turn to Vol. II, where the relevant 2C record may be recognized under author's name by the biblical text cited within it. After noting the date given within this record, he may proceed to Vol. V. This is the method of Indirect cross-reference from the present volume through Vol. II to Vol. V.

If "I" is the symbol of disagreement, the reader should adopt the method of Indirect cross-reference. ("I" records are infrequent in the present volume: there are only 151 of them.)

If "D" is the symbol of disagreement about Date, a reader may, if he wishes, choose another method: Direct cross-reference from the present volume to Volume V. This method is somewhat hazardous. In about half the cases where the symbol is "D", a reader will find under the 1C date in Vol. V an entry directing him to the composite entry under the 2C date in the same volume. In the remaining cases he will find no such directive entry there under the 1C date, but will find the composite record itself under a date exactly one year earlier or one year later than the 1C date. Thus if a reader chooses the method of Direct cross-reference, he may need to look for a relevant entry not only within the set of records listed in Vol. V as publications of the year specified within the present volume but also within one or even two sets of records for immediately adjacent years.

11. <1C > Cooke I records the sermon as published in a collective edition of date and format as shown in the record. Presumably, a publication of the same date and format may be found listed under author's name in Cooke II with further information about it, such as abbreviated or full title and the names of those libraries, if within the universities at Oxford and Cambridge, or in the College at Eton, or among a certain three in London, that in Cooke's day contained a copy. The information in Cooke II, however, seldom includes an itemization of sermons contained in a collective edition. Since in Volume I Cooke lists most sermons as published in collective editions, the set of symbols <1C > occurs in more than half the records within the present volume. Correpondence between records in Volume I concerning sermons printed in collective editions and records in Volume II concerning the editions which contain them sometimes fails. It has not been possible for the present editor to search out these failures of correspondence between records in Cooke II and Cooke I regarding collective editions and the sermons printed within them.

12. Misprints and non-standard spellings: As users of these volumes will know, spelling was often erratic in eighteenth century documents. In principle, all erratic spellings and also all obvious misprints within Cooke's records have been preserved during transcription of them into machine-readable form in preparation of the present edition of his work except where alteration seemed required by common sense in editing or was needed for proper sorting, comparing, and other processing of the transcribed records by computer. To ensure accuracy in transcription, two distinct transcriptions were made by two different key-punch operators reading independently from two different enlarged Xerox copies of two different printed copies (one in the British Museum, the other in the Yale University Library) of the original edition. The two transcriptions were then compared by computer, differences discovered, and operators' errors corrected.

    In regard to obvious misprints in Cooke's work, it should be remarked that, as the imprint upon title pages in the 1783 edition shows, Cooke's work was privately printed for him as editor. Probably he lacked financial resources for extensive resetting of type. He had received a stipend of only four pounds annually during the years 1765-1780 that he was a Chaplain at Christ Church in Oxford, where he had entered his College as a Sizar (a servitor). Appointment to a "good living" -- that of Rector of Wentnor, in Shropshire -- must have improved his financial situtation after 1780, but perhaps hurried him to get his work into print. There are signs of haste in his Volume II. It appears to have been set into type by at least two, more probably three, and perhaps four different compositors working under different conditions, but probably not always at different times. These facts are indicated by diversities between sets of gatherings of sheets in respect to such things as pagination, catchword usage, and frequency of certain types of phonetic confusion in regard to numerals. But Cooke's own work is not careless.

13. Causes of disagreement: By no means all disagreements between the primary and the secondary sources of this volume are due to error upon the part of Cooke or his printer. Many of them of them are due to differences between the sources of information that Cooke himself used in compiling his two volumes. Some of these differences are bibliographically significant.

    Cooke's sources were of two kinds: (1) library catalogues and other lists, some of them in print and some in manuscript; and (2) books and pamphlets that he found on the shelves to which the catalogues of libraries public and private led him. In general, so the present editor has concluded, Cooke used library catalogues and other lists in compiling his Volume II and the books and pamphlets which he found in libraries (and perhaps sometimes in booksellers' shops) in compiling his Volume I. His readers would similarly proceed from catalogues to shelves.

    Disagreement between sources of the two kinds arose in various ways. An author's name might be presented in standardized form throughout a library catalogue, in several forms upon the title pages of the books or pamphlets that bore it. Date of publication might be stated in New Style within a catalogue, in Old Style on a title page; or it might appear in a catalogue as announced by publisher to subscriber and might stand on the relevant title page as later set thereon by the printer. The date of the first volume of an edition might be left in a catalogue as the date of the entire edition, and succeeding volumes of the edition might stand on the shelves with different dates. Scribal errors might occur in manuscript lists; printers' errors in printed catalogues and on title pages.

    Although Cooke attempted to reconcile data that he obtained from library catalogues and other lists with what he found in the books and pamphlets themselves, he could not always do so; and on occasion he purposely let disagreement stand for reasons that will become apparent to a reflective reader.

    Some types of error that occurred in the listing of biblical texts within Cooke's first volume are described in Appendix A to Volume III of the present edition.

The symbols of agreement and disagreement between source records show the results of a comparison between Cooke's list of sermons printed in the years 1660-1782 and his listings of the publications in which these sermons had been printed. The list of sermons constitutes Volume I of Cooke's work in his own 1783 edition. The listings of publications occur in his Volume II, where they appear under the relevant authors' names. In his Volume I, the sermons within these publications are listed in the order in which their biblical texts occur in the bible. (As readers must know, in Cooke's day every sermon began with a biblical text.)

The comparison was made by the present editor with the aid of a computer. One purpose was to discover and resolve problems of cross reference from Cooke's first volume to his second. Another was to enable the present editor to produce by computer a set of composite records in which non-redundant information from the two source lists would be combined. Composite records of this kind are contained, along with others that are not composite, in Volume V of the present edition.

The comparison involved four points about each sermon that was recorded in both volumes: (1) biblical text, (2) name of author and the kind of type-face -- roman or italic -- in which the name was printed (indicating author's conformity or nonconformity to Church of England), (3) format of an edition in which the sermon was printed, and (4) date (year) of that edition. Symbols under Sources Compared indicate clearly the results of comparison in respect to these four points.

A fifth point was also involved in the comparison; but its results are not so directly indicated under Sources Compared. This point concerns the type or types of edition indicated in Cooke's record or records of a sermon: (a) collective edition of several works including one or more sermons by one or more authors, or (b) single-sermon edition or other edition containing sermons on a single text and by a single author.

In Cooke's Volume I the type of an edition in which a sermon may be found is indicated by information given in the column headed "Title, Page, &c.". In Volume II the type of the edition which is the subject of a record is indicated by the form of the record. The record of a single-sermon edition in Volume II begins with citation of the biblical text of the sermon contained in it. The record of a collective edition usually begins with title in brief or full followed by date and format of printing or else simply with a statement of the format and date. The sermons within a collective edition are seldom individually listed by biblical text in Volume II.

There were good reasons why Cooke treated single-sermon and collective editions in different ways within his second volume. Specification of the biblical text of the sermon contained in a single-sermon edition seldom required an extra line of print and was the best way to distinguish that publication from other single-sermon publications by the same author in the same year and the same format of printing. In the case of a collective edition, however, itemization of its contents would usually take many lines of print and was quite unnecessary for identification of the work. Very seldom was more than one collection of sermons by the same author printed in the same year and format. Hence author's name, date and format of printing, and an indication that the publication was a collective edition were usually sufficient to identify such a collection uniquely. Where these points of information were not sufficient in regard to a collective publication, Cooke almost invariably gave its title in full or brief form within his second volume and in highly abbreviated form within the related sermon records within his first volume.

Although Cooke in his second volume did not routinely itemize any of the sermons contained in a collective edition, he did so in the following circumstances: (1) often all, if they were few -- two or three or so -- and itemization of them was useful for identification of the publication; (2) sometimes some, if these had been printed in alternative editions of historical interest or of convenience to his readers; (3) usually as many as was proper, if a collective edition brought together sermons by several authors and he had not already recorded all of them as printed within editions of the individual authors' works. In this third case, after the name of every author whose work he would have omitted to list had he not found it in the collective edition of sermons by several authors, he itemized those sermons by this author that he would otherwise have omitted, added a "V." for "Vide", and then cited the collective edition by brief title, format, and date.

A copy of Cooke's second volume is reproduced, again as Volume II, in the present edition of his work.

Cooke's first volume is not similarly reproduced, but is represented in the present edition by Volume III Sermons Listed by Biblical Text. In it all records contained in Cooke's first volume are reproduced with editorial apparatus added, and note is made also of all sermons that Cooke recorded in his second volume and not in his first.

Volume IV lists the same sermons as Volume III but in the order described by its title: Sermons Listed by Authors' Names. There is no similar listing in Cooke's own edition of his work. Records in Volume IV were sorted by computer, and in consequence a reader must use his own intelligence to distinguish between the sermons of authors who bear the same name or to combine into a single set all records of sermons by an author whose name Cooke has represented variously. Similarities and differences in other items of information within records -- dates and formats of printing, volume and page numbers in collective editions, abbreviated titles -- will usually be sufficient guides.

Volume V lists by year of their printing all the publications that are recorded in Cooke's second volume. In addition, it lists all single-sermon publications that are recorded in Cooke's first volume but that, through oversight on the part of Cooke or his printer, were not included within the listings in Cooke's second volume. It also lists, so far as the present editor has found them, all those contributions made by individual authors to collective editions of sermons by several authors that were recorded in Cooke's first volume and that should have been recorded in Cooke's second volume but were not. It does not, however, list per se any of the collective editions that Cooke or his printer neglected to record in Cooke's second volume even though reference was made to them within sermon-records in Cooke's first volume. Within every record in Volume V for which two sources are shown, there is printed all non-redundant information (including all discrepant information) from both source records.

Volume VI lists the same sermons as do Volumes III and IV but differs from them in arrangement. In it the sermons are recorded in the order of the publication dates given for them in Cooke's first volume.

The purpose of the chronological arrangement of records in Volumes V and VI will be obvious to students who recognize the data within them as a register of the conditions of life and of developments in literature, politics, religious thought, printing and publication, economics, and public attitudes in England from the Restoration into the period of the American colonial rebellion.

AIDS TO INTERPRETATION

In the column headed "Title, Page, &c.":
The abbreviation "ss." means that the sermon will be found in a single-sermon edition. A page number, on the other hand, indicates that it will be found in a collective edition of sermons or miscellaneous works by one or several authors. The number is the page on which the sermon begins in that collective edition.

An "&c." following a page number indicates that a series of sermons, all on the same biblical text and by the same given author, begins on the page so numbered within a collective edition. The number of sermons on that text, if greater than one, is usually (but not always) indicated by an arabic numeral preceding the "s." that stands before the page number: e.g., "10 s. 189&c."

If no "&c." follows the page number, or there is no page number at all after the "10 s." or similar expression, the expression is usually an abbreviation of the title or description by means of which (along with date and format of printing) the publication is identified under author's name in Cooke's (and the present) Volume II. (The practice of naming a volume of sermons by the number of sermons contained in it was common in the 18th century.)

In case reference to Volume II does not resolve a reader's doubt about how such an expression as "10 s." is being used in a particular case, the reader should consult Volume IV. If the expression recurs there in several records of sermons by the same author and published in an edition of the same date and format, then it represents a title, not the number of sermons on a text.

In the column headed "Occasion or Subject":

(1) A single small "s." always stands for "sermon."

(2) Any other small letter or distinct pair of small letters usually stands for a preposition: e.g., "b." for "before"; "a." or "ag." for "against."

(3) A capital letter following such an abbreviation stands for the grammatical object of the preposition, that object often denoting the audience of the sermon: e.g., "b.K." stands for "before King"; "b.Q." for "before Queen"; "b.K. & Q." for "before King & Queen"; "b.C." for "before (House of) Commons"; "b.L." for "before (House of) Lords"; "b.L.M." for "before Lord Mayor."

(4) A capital letter before a small "s." or before an abbreviated preposition usually denotes the occasion for which the sermon was preached. Thus "F.s.b.C." stands for "Fast sermon before Commons"; "Th.b.M." for "Thanksgiving sermon before Mayor."

(5) Unfortunately, "F." can mean "Feast" as well as "Fast," but does so only after a designation of the feasters: e.g., "Gard.F." stands for "Gardeners' Feast"; "Sch.F." for "School Feast."

(6) "Fun.s." always means "Funeral sermon."

If a reader finds that an abbreviation within the column "Occasion or Subject" remains unintelligible without further aid, he may usually obtain help in one of the ways listed below:

(1) from Volume II (or perhaps more conveniently Volume V) if the source symbol "2C" occurs in the column "Sources Compared" within the present volume, indicating that a relevant entry is contained therein; (In Volume II, Cooke often spelled out in full, or almost in full, the occasion and/or subject of a sermon if he had reason to include a record of it there.)

(2) from Volume I (Index Volume), where various abbreviations relevant to each index heading are displayed;

(3) from the biblical text of the sermon; (A reading of the biblical text will often make clear what the sermon is about and to what occasion or audience it might be suitable.)

(4) from the work of Cooke's predecessor Sampson Letsome; (Cooke says in his "Preface" that he is leaving to the "Dexterity of the Compositor" the abbreviations which are to be used in the column "Occasion or Subject." It is clear that the compositor formed most of them by replicating or, more commonly, compressing the abbreviations which Cooke's predecessor, Sampson Letsome, had used for similar matter. Readers who have access to a copy of Letsome's 1753 edition of The Preacher's Assistant will find therein (with few exceptions) a record of any sermon that Cooke has not listed with a prefixed asterisk, and in Letsome's record they will usually find a fuller and more easily interpreted abbreviation of occasion or subject.)

How to Read This Index:

Under each heading in this index, the items should be read in line from left to right across the page. Double brackets precede all references to sermons published in the year named after those brackets. Within the set of items for that year, a two-letter combination identifies, by the first two letters of his surname, every author who, according to John Cooke's first volume, published a sermon relevant to the heading. The numbers following the two letters identify the biblical texts of the sermons by the author or authors who bear a surname that begins with the two letters. These numbers are correlated to the texts by a simple code: serial number of biblical book (two digits), of chapter (three digits), and of verse (three digits). Biblical books are listed by serial code numbers on endpapers inside the covers of the present volume.

For example, items on the first line under the first heading of this index show that in the year 1780 Bampton Lectures were published by one or more authors whose surname(s) began with the two letters BA and that the biblical texts chosen for these lectures were Isaiah lxi. 1; Romans x. 14; I Corinthians xi. 19; Ephesians i. 3; Philippians iv. 8; II Peter i. 19; and I John i. 3.

Since entries in Vol.III of the present edition of Cooke's work are arranged in the order of biblical text and the code number is printed at the beginning of each entry, reference from this index to that volume is easy. Within any set of entries there concerning the same text, the first two letters of an author's surname are in most cases sufficient to identify an entry uniquely.

The author of the sermons in the example given above was James Bandinel, as the reader will discover if he consults our Vol. III. He will find the sermons listed as a group, with date 1780, beside Bandinel's name in our Vol. IV Sermons Listed by Authors' Names. He will find the publication that contains them identified under the name BANDINELL James in Vol.II and under PUBLICATIONS OF THE YEAR 1780 in Vol. V.

A chronological ordering of items has been chosen for this index, because it has been assumed that most readers are primarily interested in publications of certain periods.

Users will find a ruler helpful in reading across lines.

(INDEXES TO THIRD VOLUME)

INDEX B : SOME COLLECTIONS OF SERMONS BY ANONYMOUS OR SEVERAL AUTHORS

How to Read This Index:

Under the name of the sermon collection are listed, in a vertical row, the dates of publication that Cooke, in his first volume, gives for the sermons that he indicates to be contained in it. Under each date the names of authors are given in alphabetical order from left to right, and after each name the code numbers of the biblical texts of the relevant sermons as given in Volume Three of the present edition. (See directions for reading the preceding Index A.)

Bibliographical Note:

The present Index B contains all references that Cooke, in his first volume, makes to the collections named. His references sometimes occur in footnotes (q.v. in Volume Three of the present edition) and sometimes in the column headed "Title, Page, &c." (q.v. in the present edition). In his references, Cooke seems to have attempted a distinction between those sermons that, according to his evidence, had been published by his terminal date 1782 only in the collection named and those that had been published in some other way also. If according to his evidence a sermon had been published in an alternative way, he seems to have entered the alternative form in his main list and to have referred to the collection in a footnote. Thus if the main entry shows a year of publication different from the year of the collection, Cooke presumably believed that the sermon had been published in both years, and if the main entry describes the sermon as "ss." (Cooke's abbreviation for "single sermon") of the same date as the collection, presumably he thought that the sermon had been available to purchasers both unbound as a single sermon in pamphlet form and also bound into the collection with other sermons.

Underlining:

In this and the other indexes, as in the lists to which they refer, the underlining of an author's name represents the italic type which Cooke used to indicate that an author was a Nonconformist rather than an Anglican.

King, or both King and Queen <"b.K.","Rest.s.b.K.","Th.s.b.K.", etc.; "Th.s.b.K.& Q." etc.>

Note 1: Ampersand "&": Sermons before both King and Queen: An ampersand "&" has been inserted immediately before the biblical-text code numbers of all items concerning sermons that Cooke in his first volume recorded as delivered before King and Queen together.

Note 2: Occasions or Subjects: The occasions or subjects recorded by Cooke in his first volume as those of sermons delivered before King or King and Queen are indicated within the set of index items below by small letters following commas after the biblical-text code numbers of the relevant items: a = accession, f = fast, j = January 30, m = May 29, n = November 5, t = thanksgiving, u = occasion or subject unstated in Cooke's first volume; o = observance of religious holy day or season, r = some other religious or theological subject, x = some occasion or subject other than those named above.

Note 3: It is worth notice that the proportion of items concerning sermons occasioned by the remembrance days January 30 (execution of Charles I), May 29 (Restoration of Charles II),and November 5 (Guy Fawkes Day) in this set regarding sermons delivered before King or King and Queen appears significantly lower than in the sets regarding sermons before the House of Commons, the House of Lords, or the Lord Mayor.

Note 4: It is also interesting that many of the sermons delivered before King (as also of those before Queen) were occasioned by religious holy days or seasons, whereas few or none of those delivered before House of Commons, House of Lords, or Lord Mayor had such occasions or subjects.

Note 5: Number of items regarding religious observances o or religious subjects r:
31 o = 1 Advent + 1 Ash-Wednesday + 3 Easter + 5 Christmas + 15 Lent + 6 Passion;
9 r = 1 Purification + 2 Religion + 1 Christian Union + 1 Mutual Charity + 1 Sacred Love + 1 Blessing God + 1 Censure + 1 Fear of God. (Relevant items within the Addenda at bottom of this list are included in these counts.)

Queen <"b.Q.", "F.s.b.Q.", "Th.s.b.Q.", etc., etc.>

Note 1: The following set of index items does not include any that refer to sermons which Cooke described in his first volume as delivered before King and Queen together. Regarding such items, see the heading, supra within the present Index C, "King, or both King and Queen."

Note 2: Occasions or Subjects: The occasions or subjects recorded by Cooke in his first volume as those of sermons delivered before Queen are indicated within the set of index items below by small letters following commas after the biblical-text code numbers of the relevant items: a=accession, f = fast, j = January 30, m = May 29, n= November 5, t = thanksgiving, u = occasion or subject unstated in Cooke's first volume; o = observance of some holy day or holy season, r = some other religious or theological subject, x = some occasion or subject other than those named above.

Note 3: For comment upon the comparatively small proportion of items concerning January 30, May 29, and November 5 and the comparatively large number concerning religious matters, see Notes 3 and 4 under the heading, supra in the present Index C, "King, or both King and Queen."

Note 4: Number of items regarding religious observances o or religious subjects r:
17 o = 1 Ash-Wednesday + 2 Christmas + 2 Easter + 1 Good Friday + 10 Lent + 1 Passion;
7 r = 1 Temptation + 1 Christian Simplicity + 1 Mystery of Godliness + 1 Censure + 2 Humility + 1 Future State [of Soul & Body].

KING OR KING & QUEEN: SERMONS BEFORE: STATISTICS AND NOTES ABOUT THIS SET OF INDEX ITEMS

Notes and Comments Concerning Set Named Above

1. A reader may conjecture, perhaps wrongly, that in two of the four cases where frequency=2, the sermons involved were designed to supplement, or to offset, one the other: in each case, they were published in the same year (1694 in one case, 1684 in the other) but were by different clergymen, as a glance at the set of index items shows.

2. For a sermon before King a clergyman seldom chose the same text as had been chosen by some predecessor -- or, at least, his sermon was seldom printed if he did so. This fact, which is obvious to the eye as a reader scans the set of index items, is given quantitative statement by the extremely low value (2.5826) of Yule's K in regard to the distribution of the biblical text references within the set. It suggests that before composing a sermon to preach before the King, a clergyman looked through records in the King's Library.

3. It is worth remark also that in preaching to King, clerymen seem to have avoided the texts most commonly used in other circumstances; for the figures in the three columns concerning frequencies in Cooke I appear abnormal. No text with frequency greater than 1 in the above set ranks among the 50 most popular texts overall in Cooke I. These 50 account for about 8% of the 23532 records in Cooke I, but for only 4% of the items in the present set.

4. The high percentage of religious topics (39.24% are of type o, 11.39% are of type r: a total of 50.63%) among the occasions or subjects recorded by Cooke for sermons delivered before King or King and Queen is worth attention.See notes 3 - 5 under the heading "King, or both King and Queen" in Index C, where further details are given. Some of the topics and texts there identified in note 5 suggest that sometimes a sermon addressed reproof to the King. It is worth remark also that the concentration of occasion or subject upon one or two kinds in this set of items contrasts sharply with the wide dispersal of biblical texts that has already been noted. In regard to occasion or subject, Yule's K has an extremely high value: 2044.5441.

5. In the above set is a group of six items with consecutive (or nearly consecutive) code numbers 43005003,4,5,6,8,10 (Matthew v 3,4,5,6,8,10: the Beatitudes), all with the same date (1757) and same two initial letters of author surname (CO). The author is COBDEN Edward, Chaplain in Ordinary, who published the six sermons among others in a collective edition, "28 Discourses". For some purposes the items might be considered as six records of sermons on a single text.

6. The reasons for a clergyman's choice of biblical text for a special occasion before a specific audience at a particular time is of historical interest. So are reasons for publication of his sermon. Speculation now and then on these matters may relieve a reader's tedium in perusal of undecorated data. Examples follow below.

   Sometimes the reasons seem obvious: e.g., in the cases of two sermons, mentioned in note 1 above, delivered before Charles II on an anniversary (May 29) of his Restoration and printed in the year just before his brother, James II, succeeded to his throne. Here religious reasons are clear for choice of a biblical text with keywords "Afterward the the children of Israel return to God and king," and political reasons are clear for publication in single-sermon [pamphlet] form. It is doubtful that many copies were bought. (Were some distributed free?) The biblical text appears to have been unpopular outside courtier and recusant circles (Cooke I records it as used for only three published sermons in 123 years), and the Bloodless Revolution soon deposed the openly Roman Catholic James II from the throne.

   In the other cases mentioned in note 1 above, reasons are not so obvious, but might prove amusing. The text is Ecclesiastes v. 1: "...when thou goest to the house of God, be more ready to hear ...." The special audience is King and Queen, who in the year of publication, 1794, were William and Mary. That year was the year of Mary's death

   In all cases so far mentioned the year of publication was probably (but not necessarily) also the year of delivery or the year immediately following delivery; for the form of publication was single-sermon.

   In the case of another interesting text for which freq = 2 in the set named above, the year of publication is unlikely to have been the year of delivery; for, as our Vol. III shows, the two sermons involved were published in collective editions. The text which elicits interest is I John iv.1: "Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world." One of the sermons, published in 1731 by William Talbot, Bp. of Durham from 1721 to 1730 (Cooke in our Vol. II, pp. 397-406, lists bishops by their sees and dates) was preached on Nov. 5 (Guy Fawkes' Day), and we may therefore conjecture that it warned the king against religious zealots turned political activists. The other was published in 1679. The type of occasion is not stated in Cooke's record; but we may assume that, in preaching it, Thomas Pierce, President of Magdalen College, Oxford, was not advising Charles I against Royal attendance at Quaker meetings.

KING OR KING & QUEEN: SERMONS BEFORE: STATISTICS AND NOTES ABOUT THIS SET OF INDEX ITEMS

APPENDIX TO INDEX C TO THIRD VOLUME: SOME SETS OF AUDIENCE INDEX ITEMS SORTED AND ANALYZED FOR BIBLICAL TEXT REFERENCE

QUEEN: SERMONS BEFORE: STATISTICS AND NOTES ABOUT THIS SET OF INDEX ITEMS

Notes and Comments Concerning Above Set

1. It is of interest that in the Queen set there are four items referring to Accession sermons, none in the King set.

2. Regarding the high proportion (30%) of. and for details about, items o concerning holy days or seasons and (12%) items r related to other religious topics, see notes 3 and 4 under the heading "Queen" within Index C.

3. The high concentration of items upon relatively few types of occasion or subject in this set is measured by the value (1514.3) of Yule's K in respect to this matter. The contrasting wide dispersal of items over many biblical texts is indicated by the low value (9.426) of Yule's K in respect to this other matter. Compare the corresponding values for the set concerning sermons before King; these are even more extreme.

4. Readers may welcome some comments and questions to turn index items into points of curiosity or information regarding social forces which bring together biblical text, author, occasion, and publication of a sermon. Some follow.

   As the first item under The Most Frequently Cited Biblical Texts within This Set brings to attention, there are two records of sermons delivered before Queen on Proverbs xxiv.21: "My son, fear thou the Lord and king: and meddle not with them that are given to change." The occasion stated in both records is Jan.30, an anniversary of the beheading of Charles I. There is no question about why the text was chosen for this type of occasion: its suitability is self-evident -- perhaps partly because the text is so familiar to us. As is shown in the three columns following those keywords of the text that are set out in the item, this text is cited in 68 of the records in Cooke's first volume (his list of sermons 1660-1782 by biblical text); those records note a total of 68 sermons upon it; and in all of that volume there is only one text in regard to which there are more records. Furthermore, a glance at the set of index items under "January 30 Sermons" within the present APPENDIX TO INDEXES TO THE THIRD VOLUME and a quick count of the items there for text-code number 20024021 will show that the text was used at least 20 times for sermons on January 30. It is the most frequent of all texts recorded in Cooke for that occasion -- twice as frequent as any other.

   There may be some question, however, about why the text was chosen for delivery before a Queen, whom preachers would not often think in need of such advice as is conveyed by it. No sermon on this text was ever delivered before a King, so far as records in Cooke I show. Perhaps the Queen to whom the sermon was preached had been meddling in affairs of Church or had given ear to enemies of a minister of state; or perhaps there were reasons for concern about welfare of church and state that should be set forth for a Queen to hear. To determine who the Queen(s) might be, we look at the dates of publication and also at the relevant records in our Volume III. We observe that one sermon upon the text was published in a single-sermon edition in 1734 and that the author was Shuckford, S., DD., who (we learn from Vol. II) was Prebendary of Canterbury and Chaplain in Ordinary and for whom sermon publications are listed with years 1723-1752. Most likely the Queen was George II's: Caroline of Brandenburg. The sermon (as we also learn from Vol. II) was delivered in Norwich. Was there some special reason for the Queen to be in Norwich, for a sermon to be preached there before her on this text, and for the sermon to be published in single-sermon form, easily purchasable by the public? Or, less likely, did the King's Chaplain in Ordinary take January 30 and the Queen's absence from her usual environment as an opportunity to remind her of the dangers of lending support to unorthdox theologians? Or is there some error in Cooke's records? The problem would be interesting to pursue.

   The other sermon recorded in Cooke I for Proverbs xxiv. 21 was preached by Thomas Sherlock, Bishop of London from 1748 to 1761. (See Cooke's list of Bishops, pp. 397-406 in Volume II.) Hence most likely the Queen before whom it was preached was George III's: Charlotte of Mecklenburg. But the date of delivery is quite uncertain so far as Cooke's records show; for his only record of it specifies it as on page 1 of Volume V ("Occasional Serm.") of a collective edition dated 1772, 1774 of the Bishop's preachings.

   In regard to other items listed under The Most Frequently Cited Biblical Texts comment and question may be avoided or made brief. Two sermons delivered before Queen are recorded for the text Ecclesiastes vii.14. Its keywords are "prosperity and adversity: God hath set one against the other." Clearly, the one published in 1709 (ss. edition) was delivered (probably before Queen Anne) on a day of rejoicing; for the occasion was a day of publicly proclaimed Thanksgiving. (Was it for a temporary prospect of peace?). The one published in 1706, on the other hand, may have been delivered (probably also before Queen Anne) in a day of adversity: Cooke does not record the type of occasion, and the text was used both on days of Thanksgiving and on days of Fast.

Comment upon the items which concern Eccles. viii.11 (evil work and speedy sentence) or Matthew xxii. 21 (Caesar's and God's) would be superfluous: questions regarding the nexus of biblical text, audience, occasion, and date and form of publication are obvious, and answers may be pursued by readers who wish to find them. A comment upon the item concerning I John iii. 8 may be in order, however; for the keywords which have been taken from the text may mislead the reader about uses to which the text was put. In preaching upon the text before the Queen (and elsewhere also) clergymen placed their emphasis not upon the devil, but upon the Son of God as Redeemer. It was used as text for Christmas sermons before the Queen, and often elsewhere. The full text reads: "He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose was the Son of God manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil."

Hospital or Infirmary, at, or before Governors of, <"Hosp.s.","Hos.s.","Inf.s.","Lond.Inf.s.","b.Gov....Hos.", etc.>

Note 1: Spittal sermons. Spittal sermons are not indexed here. They are indexed under their own special heading within the following Index D.

Note 2: Special symbols p, y, g. Because smallpox hospitals, lying-in hospitals, and a Magdalen Hospital of the eighteenth century have much interest for many readers of the late twentieth century, index items referring to them receive special treatment here. A comma followed by a small letter has been placed after each item that refers to such an institution: p = a smallpox hospital, y = a lying-in hospital, g = Magdalen Hospital. More is said about these institutions in the explanatory note that is mentioned in Note 3, below.

Note 3: Cooke's records of particular hospitals and infirmaries. A table summarizing data compiled from Cooke's records of individual hospitals and infirmaries follows the set of index items and their addenda immediately below this note. An explanatory note precedes the table.

Explanatory Note in Regard to Following Table: Most of the records indexed above concern sermons that Cooke found printed in single-sermon editions. He was able to describe these more fully in his second volume than in his first. His more complete descriptions are repeated in our Vol.V; his abbreviated and often less complete descriptions in our Vol.III. The present editor has looked through all records to which this set of items and addenda has led him in both Volumes III and V and has prepared a summary of his findings. This is presented below in tabular form.

The primary purpose of the summary table is to outline the development of medical-related philanthropy in the eighteenth century in so far as this is reflected in Cooke's records. A secondary purpose is to assist a reader in finding records of hospitals and infirmaries that are of particular interest to him.

The table presents seven columns of data: (1) the name of a hospital or infirmary, (2) the number of sermons that Cooke records as preached at, or on behalf of, the institution so named, (3) the number of these that he records in his first volume as printed in single-sermon editions, (4) the earliest date of publication recorded by him for one of these sermons, (5) the latest date, (6) any discrepancy between Cooke's first volume and his second volume in regard to edition in which a relevant sermon was printed, and (7) notes regarding Cooke's records or sermons for the institution.

To serve the primary purpose of the table, institutions named in it are divided into three groups: those presumably in the London area, those elsewhere, and those of uncertain region, type, and name. Within each group, institutional names are arranged in chronological order of the earliest date of publication recorded by Cooke for sermons at or on behalf of institutions of the type or name specified in the table. Hence the table enables a reader to observe the emergence of clerical attention to first one and then another hospital or infirmary in or outside the London area. It also measures the amount and persistence of the attention given to each, so far Cooke's records accurately reflect these matters. Readers may wish to draw histograms of some of the data.

A reader who wishes to find Cooke's records concerning a particular hospital or infirmary need not look through all the records to which the set of index items and addenda immediately above this note refer, but only those to which reference is made by items within the chronological range defined by earliest and latest date of publication as given for the institution in the table below. How many of the items within this range concern it is stated by the number in the first column after the institutional name, and the succeeding column indicates how many of the relevant items concern sermons in single-sermon editions that he will find listed under the same date in our Volume V as is recorded for them in our Volume III. All exceptions to this rule about correspondence in regard to date he will find noted in the final two columns after the institutional name.

The names of hospitals and infirmaries as listed in the table and the way in which records are credited to them require explanation. The name to which a sermon is credited is the most specific name that can be found in Cooke's records of the sermon. For example, if "Inf.s." is used in the record of a sermon in Cooke's first volume and the same sermon is described more fully in his second volume as "b. Gov. of London-Infirmary," the sermon is credited to "London Infirmary" within section A.Hospitals and Infirmaries Presumably in the London Area. It is not credited to C. Hospitals and Infirmaries Not Specified by Type, Name, or Region in Cooke's Records.

In consequence of the rule stated above, there are some tabulations which should perhaps be combined. Thus in section A of the table there are two listings "Small pox-Hospital" and "London Smallpox Hospital," as if in Cooke's period there were two hospitals, presumably both in London, set aside for treatment of smallpox patients. In the present editor's inexpert opinion, there was probably only one smallpox hospital in all England, but a possibly real semantic distinction between the two names should not be inexpertly obliterated. Specialists in medical history may easily merge the two entries into one set of data if they know it proper to do so. A similar problem exists in regard to three distinct entries "Middlesex Lying-in Hospital or, simply, Middlesex Hospital," "Lying-in Hospital," and "London Lying-in Hospital."

Medical historians may also be interested in a further note about Cooke's listings. Throughout his records, Cooke seems to have followed his sources scrupulously in his use of the words "Hospital" and "Infirmary." In only three cases does he use the term "Hospital" in one of his volumes and "Infirmary" in the other in his descriptions of a sermon. Two of the cases concern sermons for the Lincoln "Infirmary" (2C) or "Hosp." (1C); the third case concerns a sermon at Devon and Exon. "Hosp." (2C) or "Inf." (1C).

Charity Sermons <"Ch.s","Charity">

Note: Under the present heading are indexed only those sermons that are described in Cooke's Vol. I and hence in our Vol. III either by the simple abbreviation "Ch.s" or by the single word "Charity" within the column headed "Occasion or Subject."

The records in which occasion or subject is named by the single word "Charity" are few: thirty-four in all. A percentage sign "%" has been prefixed to the biblical text code number in each item below that refers to a record belonging to this group.

The great majority (about 77%) of the sermons in the much larger group -- the "Ch.s" sermons -- were published in single-sermon editions shortly after delivery and presumably were delivered in support of specific charitable causes. In some instances the cause for which such a sermon was delivered is stated in the record in our Vol. V which corresponds to the record in our Vol. III that is indexed below. To find that record, a reader should proceed first to the record in our Vol. III; and then, if the symbols there within the column "Sources Compared" reveal that a corresponding (and probably more complete) record exists in our Vol. V, he may go on to the record in Vol. V.

Most of the sermons in the "Charity" group, on the other hand, are recorded by Cooke as published in collective editions of their authors' works. Indeed, thirty of the thirty-four sermons in this group are so recorded in our Vol. III, and hence are not to be found individually listed in our Vol. V (because not recorded within Cooke's Vol. II as distinct editions).

The biblical texts of sermons in the "Charity" group suggest that in general the sermons in this group were not directed toward support of specific charitable institutions but toward promotion of the charitable spirit among people. Twelve of these thirty-four sermons have for biblical text some verse or verses in the passage I Corinthians xiii 1 - 13. Five of the sermons have I Peter iv. 8 as text: a fact which suggests that at least five were intended to promote help for the poor within the preacher's own congregation or parish. However directed, many or most of the sermons were of course occasioned by some event or need of which the speaker was aware.

Sermons on Charity as qualified by some other word or phrase -- for example, "Xn. Charity", "Of Charity", "Durat. of Char." -- or on Love or some other related topic may be found by searching through the permuted keywords and abbreviations within Index E to our Third Volume.

Many sermons in support of certain kinds of charitable causes are indexed under their own proper headings within the present Index D or the preceding Index C: for example, within the present index, "Charity Schools", "Irish Protestant Schools", "Colony of Georgia", "Spittal Sermons"; within the preceding Index C, "Hospital or Infirmary, at, or before Governors of." As implied by the first paragraph of this note, items referring to these sermons are not included among those below.

Naval Sermons <"The Navy">

Note: Also see the works of three authors to whom a footnote in Cooke's second volume refers the reader for sermons concerning the Navy.

These authors are named Philips, Ramsey, and Stockdale. The relevant works as listed in Cooke's volume appear to be Michael PHILIPS, "Occasional Serm. in 12° 1775. For the Royal Navy"; James RAMSEY [or RAMSAY], "12 Serm. in 8° 1782. For the Use of the Royal Navy"; and Percival STOCKDALE, "6 Disc. in 8° 1777." Single sermons published by Ramsey [or Ramsay] in 1778 and by Nicholas (not Michael) Philips in 1681 may also have been addresed to Naval audiences.

Passion Sermon <"P.S.">
Note: In our Third Volume there are six records of sermons which Cooke did not describe with the abbreviation "P.S." that he defined for Passion Sermon but with the undefined abbreviation "P.s." (in five cases) or "P.s.E.s.A.s." (in one case). These are not indexed below, but are identified at their proper places within Index E among other items with the keyword "P". All but one of the sermons so indexed are Passion Sermons, as we may judge from their biblical texts and from correponding records in the work of Cooke's predecessor Letsome. The exception is the sermon by the author LITTLETON.

Trinity Sunday <"Trin.S.","S.Trin.">

Note: In our Third Volume there are 125 records of sermons described by Cocke as delivered on one or another of the 1, 2, 3, ..., 26 Sundays of Trinity. These are all indexed by number of Sunday after the keyword "SUND" within our Index E. In the same index are 31 items referring to sermons which Cooke described not with the abbreviation "Trin.S." but with "Trin.s." These sermons may have been delivered on Trinity Sunday, or they may be about the Trinity but have been delivered on other days. After the keyword "TRINITY" within Index E there are 27 items about sermons on the subject of the Trinity but presumably not delivered on Trinity Sunday. After the keyword "TRIN" there are five items about sermons described with "Trin.b. L.M.", one with "Bapt.Trin.", and one with "On the Trin."

(INDEXES TO THIRD VOLUME)

INDEX E: SUBJECTS OR OCCASIONS OF SERMONS THAT ARE NOT ENTERED IN THE PRECEDING INDEXES A, B, C, OR D

Contents of This Index:

The following list gives John Cooke's abbreviated descriptions of the subjects or occasions of sermons not classified by means of the preceding indexes. In effect, it lets the remaining entries find their own classifications by means of the principle of key-word-in-context indexing, which is sometimes known by the acronym K W I C indexing. In its application here, this principle results in an alphabetically ordered listing of all words and abbreviations that John Cooke used in describing these sermons in the "Occasion or Subject" segment of the entries that are printed in the Third Volume of the present edition. Within the index below, every key word or abbreviation is followed by the context in which it appears in that segment of Cooke's entry, then by the name of the author and the date of the publication that the entry concerns, and finally by the code number of the biblical text associated with it.

Three limitations of this index should be noted: (1) No entry that is indexed in the preceding indexes A, C, or D is listed in it, and from Index B only a very few are included. (2) The index gives no more than fifteen characters from John Cooke's abbreviated description of the occasion or subject of a sermon, and key words that occur after the fifteenth character are likewise excluded. This limitation affects less than a half of one per cent of the entries, and so does not greatly falsify the statement that every word or abbreviation from Cooke's "Occasion or Subject" segment of these entries is listed in the index. (3) The prepositions "in", "on", and "of", the article "the", and the abbreviations "&c.", "o.", and "s." have also been deleted from the key word list except in the few cases where these words begin John Cooke's descriptions of the occasions or subjects.

Underlining and Abbreviations:

In this as in the other indexes and the lists to which they refer, the underlining of an author's name represents the italic type which Cooke used to indicate that an author was a Nonconformist rather than an Anglican.

Cooke's Table of Abbreviations is printed in the prefatory matter to the Third Volume of the present edition. However, Cooke's Table is not at all complete. Fortunately, the significance of most of his abbreviations is unfolded by the contexts within which they appear in this index. The reader will usually be able to verify his own interpretation of an abbreviation by proceeding from a single-sermon entry ("ss." entry) containing it in the Third Volume to the more complete entry in the Fifth Volume. Reference to the biblical text of a sermon will likewise serve to verify a reader's interpretation of an abbreviated title.

(INDEXES TO FIFTH VOLUME)

INDEX A: SOME NOTABLE SERIES OF LECTURES

Notes:

(1) Relation between this index and Index A to Third Volume. Their contents: The following Index A to the Fifth Volume supplements Index A to the Third Volume. Both indexes relate to sermons printed after delivery in one of the lecture series that were prominent within Cooke's period. Index A to the Third Volume notes every sermon that Cooke in his first volume and hence we in our Third Volume have recorded as belonging to such a series. It does not, however, make note of various editions in which the sermons were published. The present Index A to the Fifth Volume makes such note so far as relevant publications are listed in Cooke's second volume and hence in our Fifth Volume, where each edition that is listed in Cooke's second volume is recorded under the year of printing that Cooke has given for it. Thus in effect the present index affords for each series a chronological conspectus of publications containing sermons in the series but not of the sermons in these publications; and the other index affords a conspectus of the sermons (and their biblical texts) but not of the publications in which they appeared.

In using the present index, however, a reader should not assume that its chronological conspectus will in respect to every lecture series include every publication; for although Cooke often listed alternative editions where he thought it useful to do so, he worked under constraints of space in his second volume and of time in his research for it. In his first volume, on the other hand, Cooke attempted to list every sermon printed within his period and to note in his record of it any sermon that belonged to a prominent lecture series. He had excellent success in regard to the most eminent series; some success in regard to sermons in less eminent series.

Cooke of course considered any lecture to be outside the scope of his lists if it was not printed after its oral delivery, as also any lecture that did not develop or apply some biblical text stated as theme at its beginning. For the first of these reasons he omitted from his lists certain lectures that were delivered, under auspices of the Royal Society, in the Boyle series; for the second reason he omitted others of that series. Some of the lecture series (including the Boyle) are described in the introductory pages of the present volume. All of the series named below were established by private endowment or were financially supported by lay groups.

(2) Special symbols: Dates and formats of publications are indicated by obvious means. The underlining of an author's name means that John Cooke italicized the name to indicate that the author was Nonconformist rather than Anglican. The abbreviation "ss." stands for "single sermon", and "coll." indicates that a publication was probably a collection of sermons or of materials including a sermon (e.g., a biography containing a sermon by or a funeral sermon about its subject figure.)

Weigh House Lectures: Cooke does not give the name "Weigh House" to any lectures, but the lectures so entitled by some later bibliographers were delivered in Little Eastcheap and include, or are included among, those in the two-volume publication that Cooke names "Eastcheap Lectures," q.v. above in the present index.

(INDEXES TO FIFTH VOLUME)

INDEX B: SOME COLLECTIONS OF SERMONS BY ANONYMOUS OR SEVERAL AUTHORS

Notes:

(1) Relation between this index and Index B to the Third Volume: The following Index B to the Fifth Volume supplements Index B to the Third Volume, which also relates to collective editions each containing sermons by more than one author. The relation between the two indexes regarding collective editions of several authorship is analogous to the relation between the two indexes regarding lecture series that is described in note (1) on the title page of the index immediately preceding this one. It should be noted, however, that Cooke did not usually record a sermon as published in an edition of several authorship if he had already found it in a better or more convenient edition; and therefore many sermons within certain of these editions go unmarked as such in Cooke's first volume and hence in our Third Volume -- e.g., the sermons published in "The Protestant System," as is explained below that heading in the present index.

(2) Special symbols: Dates and formats of publications are indicated by obvious means. The underlining of an author's name means that John Cooke italicized the name to indicate that the author was Nonconformist rather than Anglican.

(3) Alternative forms of issue [or of preservation]: "coll.", "ss.", fascicle: As stated in parenthetic comments after certain headings below, some sermons published in some collective editions of several authorship were apparently issued [or at least preserved] not only in collected sets but also in the form of single sermons or of fascicles containing the sermons of single authors, these often being printed in the same year and perhaps from the same type-settings as the sermons within the more inclusive volumes. [Or in some cases librarians or other collectors may have retained or catalogued only those portions of a large unbound volume that were relevant to their special concerns.] Where the record in our Fifth Volume suggests an alternative form of issue [or preservation] of a sermon published in a collective edition, this fact has been indicated in the present Index B by entry of "ss." or (e.g.) "4s." in place of "coll." within the relevant item.

Morning Exercise — Seven titles of collective editions of Morning Exercises are listed below in a logical, but not alphabetical, order. In Cooke's first volume there occur abbreviations of two further titles. One of these is simply "Morning Exercise"; the other is "Continuation of Morning Exercise at Cripplegate." They do not appear below because they do not occur in Cooke's second volume, upon which our Fifth Volume depends for information about collective editions. Possible causes and bibliographical significances of this and other differences between Cooke's first and second volumes in their records concerning the various Morning Exercises are stated in the introduction to the present volume of indexes.

Protestant System <"The Protestant System: containing Discourses on the Principal Doctrines of Natural and Revealed Religion." 2 vols., London, 1758>

Note regarding "The Protestant System," The English Preacher," and "The Scotch Preacher":

In the 2-vol. "Protestant System" (London, 1758) and in Enfield's later 9-vol. "English Preacher" (London, 1773-74) Cooke apparently found few sermons that he had not already recorded as published in editions better than these because less abbreviated or more exact in text or more convenient for his readers to obtain -- e.g., in collective editions of the individual authors' works. Indeed, although in his list of authors' publications (his second volume) Cooke makes some references to these two collections, in his list of sermons per se he makes no reference whatever to one of them: Enfield's "The English Preacher." Hence the title does not appear in Index B to our Third Volume but only (supra) in the present Index B to our Fifth Volume.

In contrast to the small number of listings that Cooke obtained from the two London collections stands the much larger number that he obtained from a collection published in Edinburgh: "The Scotch Preacher" (q.v. below in the present index). The first volume of this collection was printed one year after the last volume of Enfield's "The English Preacher," and the choice of titles suggests that the two collections were intended to complement each other in some way. It is worthy of note that in logical union the areas denoted by these two titles comprise the characteristics of pulpit utterance within the universe of discourse denoted by the title of the earlier collection "The Protestant System" -- or at least would so so for most writers and readers of the English language in Cooke's day.

A coherence of editorial purpose for all three collections is indicated, though slightly, by the fact that Cooke records one sermon as published in them all. This he records as by William Leechman (in Cooke I also "Leachman" and "Lechman"), "Principal of the University in Glascow," (sic.) and as printed first in a single-sermon edition at "Glascow." Cooke records a sermon by a different author as published in two of the collections: in both "The Protestant System" and "The English Preacher." He lists it as by William Robertson, "Principal of the University in Edinburgh," as delivered to the Society for the Propagation of Christian Knowledge, and as first printed (presumably in London) in a single-sermon edition of 1755. Robertson is shown as Anglican in Cooke's second volume, as Nonconformist in his first. Perhaps the record showing Robertson as Anglican was affected by scribal or printing error, or perhaps Robertson moved from the Presbyterian fold into the Anglican. Leechman is shown as Nonconformist in both of Cooke's volumes.

Almost all authors to whom Cooke attributes publication in "The Scotch Preacher" he shows as Nonconformist; we should expect this. The few authors to whom he attributes publication in "The English Preacher" or "The Protestant System" he likewise shows mostly as Nonconformist. This may or may not be because he has found the sermons of Anglican preachers in preferable editions editions and has recorded them so.

All records in our Fifth Volume that contain some reference to "The Protestant System" are noted below.

(INDEXES TO FIFTH VOLUME)

INDEX C: REFERENCES TO PEOPLE

Notes:

(1) Format of This Index: On each page of the index below there are two columns of entries. On the left of each entry is the name of the person to whom reference is made in John Cooke's description of the publication that is identified on the right of the entry by means of format, date, and author's name. The context of the reference is summarized after the name of the person to whom reference is made.

(2) Special Symbols: The underlining of an author's name means that John Cooke italicized it to indicate that the author was a Nonconformist rather than an Anglican. The abbreviation "ss." stands for "single sermon", and "coll." indicates that a publication was probably a collection of sermons or a miscellany of some kind.

(3) King or Queen: For a list of sermons delivered before King or Queen, see, among the preceding INDEXES TO THIRD VOLUME, the relevant heading in INDEX C: SOME SPECIAL AUDIENCES TO WHOM SERMONS WERE ADDRESSED. For a list of Funerals of Royalty, see the relevant heading within INDEX D: OCCASIONS OR CAUSES, also among the preceding INDEXES TO THIRD VOLUME.

(INDEXES TO FIFTH VOLUME)

INDEX D: PLACES OF PUBLICATION OR DELIVERY OTHER THAN LONDON

Note 1: The following index is divided into two parts --

Part One: Places of Publication Other than London, and in the Case of Sermons in Pamphlet Editions ["ss."] Presumably Also the Places of Their Oral Delivery

Part Two: Places of Delivery (but Presumarly Not Also of Publication)

Note 2: Limitations of the data here indexed, and degree of accuracy in the distribution of items into Parts One and Two of the index --

Users of the following index of places of publication or delivery other than London should be aware of the degree of accuracy to be expected in it. In the Preface to his work, John Cooke stated that he and his friends had put themselves to much expense and labor in consulting title pages and library catalogues to make accurate note of places of publication. His word should be accepted on this point. However, Cooke did not present his information without ambiguity or error.

In the first place, like his predecessor Sampson Letsome, Cooke saved space by omitting to name London where London was the place of publication or delivery. But since (again like Letsome) he did not mark in any special way those entries for which he could obtain no information about place of publication, it should not be assumed that every item not indexed in this list was published in London, although certainly the great majority of such items were published there.

In the second place, Cooke did not in every case succeed in distinguishing unequivocally between place of publication and place of delivery. Careful study of the format of his entries discloses that, in general, if a name was used to designate place of publication, Cooke italicized it and printed it before his description of the occasion or subject matter of the publication. On the other hand, if he used the name to designate the place where a sermon was delivered but not published, he printed it after his description of the occasion, put some such preposition as "at" in front of it, and left it in roman type. But his intention is not clear (1) where the italic type is omitted in a place name put before the description of occasion, (2) where an italicized place name is put immediately before the word "Infirmary" or "Hospital" in front of the description of occasion, and (3) where a place name is italicized after an "at."

In the indexes below, every publication concerning which Cooke (or his printer) left his intention equivocally expressed in one of the three ways described above has been classified as printed at the place named in italics, even although in some instances the classification seems obviously wrong. This practice has been followed for three reasons: the rule seems to result in more right than wrong classifications; it brings oddities to attention instead of obscuring them and so may stimulate further bibliographical investigations; and a clearly stated and exactly followed rule in treatment of ambiguities seems better than escape from what appear to be obvious errors by means of silent correction of these few and random treatment of the other ambiguous entries. The rule that has been adopted expresses the judgment of the editor after comparison of seventy-four ambiguous entries with the British Museum Catalogue of Printed Books. The seventy-four included all or almost all the ambiguous entries except those concerning publications by anonymous authors or by authors so prolific that identification of a publication would consume more time than the purpose of the search would justify. For thirty-two of the seventy-four entries no matching entry of any kind was to be found in the Catalogue -- a result to be expected in view of the fact that most of them concerned ephemeral pamphlets printed outside the usual centers of publication. For the remaining forty-two, the Catalogue listed works by the same author on the same subject and with the same date of publication (or a date one year later). For twenty-three of these forty-two, the Catalogue entry confirmed the rule that has been adopted here, and for nineteen it did not. Even in these cases, of course, lack of confirmation does not always mean that the rule is in error. Hence in conclusion we may judge that less than fifty percent of the ambiguous entries are classified wrongly below. The number of ambiguous entries is around ten per cent of the total number (nine hundred forty) of entries that are indexed in the two major parts of the present index. Thus the number of entries that have been mistakenly assigned to one instead of the other of the two parts of Index D is probably less than five percent of the number of entries in Index D taken as a whole.

Note 3: Form of Index D and symbols used within it

Within the following index, names of places of publication or delivery as given in Cooke's records are listed in alphabetical order, without regard to classification as English, Scottish, Irish, colonial, or foreign. Indented below each place name are dates; and indented below each date are listed in alphabetical order the names of authors whom Cooke's records indicate to have published or delivered a sermon or set of sermons on that date at the place named. If Cooke's records show an author to have published or delivered more than one sermon or set of sermons within that year at that place, the author's name appears more than once under the date. Following each author's name on each of its appearances below a date come symbols to indicate format and type of edition in which the sermon or set of sermons was printed. Formats are represented by the conventional symbols for them. Types of edition are represented by "ss.", for single-sermon (pamphlet or booklet) edition, and by "coll.", for collective edition. Underlining of an author's name indicates that in Cooke's record the author is shown as Nonconformist rather than Anglican.

AND, IN THE CASE OF SERMONS IN PAMPHLET EDITIONS, PRESUMABLY ALSO THE PLACES OF THEIR ORAL DELIVERY

INDEX E: LIBRARIES NAMED IN COOKE'S LISTS

Contents and Arrangement of This Index:

Among the sources of Cooke's information, as Cooke states in his Preface, were the libraries at Oxford and Cambridge, the library at Eton College, and in London the collections at the British Museum, at the Dr. Williams's Library, and at Sion College. He seems also to have consulted the collection at St. Paul's on occasion. The present index names the libraries in which, according to his listings, he found pulpit publications; and it identifies the items that his listings assign to each of them. Part One of the index concerns libraries at Oxford, Part Two the libraries at Cambridge,and Part Three the libraries elsewhere. Under the name of each library indexed, the items are arranged in order of the year of publication; then within the group for each year, they are arranged in two sets according to Cooke's classification of the authors as Anglican or Nonconformist; and within each of these classifications, they are arranged alphabetically by authors' surnames. This grouping enables the reader to characterize the holdings of each library as of the year 1783 of Cooke's work. In this index, as in the lists to which it refers, the underlining of an author's name represents the italic type which Cooke used to indicate that an author was a Nonconformist rather than an Anglican.
